

Make your Valentine a Gift to Remember

Press Release

Pop along to the London Jewellery School and make a professional piece of silver jewellery for your Valentine. What could be more special and romantic?

It's that time of year again, Valentines Day is fast approaching and the pressure is on to find something fun, romantic and original to do with that special someone.

The London Jewellery School in Hatton Garden may have the answer you are looking for with their Valentines Special Classes. Here's how it works; simply pop along for either a morning or afternoon with or without your Valentine and with the help of a professional jeweller you will make a personal and unique piece of silver jewellery all for just £35!

Absolutely no jewellery making experience is necessary and non-creatives are more than welcome. A friendly and professional jewellery tutor will guide you through the whole process from start to finish and ensure you leave with a professional piece of jewellery to be proud of.

You will also be given a lovely gift bag to take your creations home in and a class certificate to prove that you actually made it - just in case they don't believe you! All tools and materials needed to make your solid silver piece of jewellery are provided so you don't need to bring anything but yourself. And for those moments when your creativity needs a boost there is plenty of tea, coffee and luxury biscuits to keep you going.

About London Jewellery School:

London Jewellery School is the UK's largest independent jewellery training centre based in London's famous jewellery quarter, Hatton Garden. With over 100 classes to choose from, more than 30 world-class jewellery tutors and three fully-equipped jewellery studios there is something at LJS for everyone.

Our motto is that 'everyone can make jewellery' which we truly believe and our classes are suitable for all ages and abilities from complete beginners through to professional jewellers. We run classes on weekdays, evenings and weekends to suit all timetables and prices start from just £35. We also run very popular jewellery parties for both adults and children and work closely with local councils to deliver jewellery classes in schools and libraries in and around London.

LJS was set up in 2008 by designer jeweller Jessica Rose who is now the school Director. It began with just one class a month from a community hall in south London and within two years has grown to be London's most popular jewellery training venue.
